Great Britain Is Only Country In The World To Take Her Tariff Out Of Politics

Unlike every other country in the world Great Britain has taken her tariff out of politics. Day by day, the "Advisory Committee of Tariffs" is in session, under the chairmanship of Sir George May, the well known business man whose economy report a year ago was the cause of the crisis which set up the National Government.

With him at the other two members of the committee, Sir Sidney Chapman and Sir George Powell. They perform a function usually assumed by a government itself, report independently to the government and are now engaged in building a tariff in a way tariffs have never been before.

The committee has full power to investigate any tariff already in existence. One of their early acts was to reduce the import duties on certain woolen schedules from 40 to 10 per cent. They issued this order overnight, and it was promptly implemented by the government.

The procedure is for it to conduct its inquiry in whatever way suits it best. It may hear from industry. It may investigate without publicity. It may call witnesses before it. It may produce whatever information it desires. It ends by issuing a report to the British treasury. On receipt of the report it is published without undue delay. It then rests with the government whether or not to implement that recommendation. The government may refuse to act. But the government has denied itself the power to pass higher duties than those recommended by the committee. It may on the other hand, pass lower duties.

If any industry feels the duty recommended is too low, the government refuses to hear the case. The industry must appear again before the committee and prove its point.

No anyone may appear before the committee. That is, representatives of the public at large have not the right. Any industry may appear, or any merchant or dealer in any commodity. It is hoped, in this way, that the consumers will receive due attention from the committee. In the case of British industry, the pressure of exporting interests are so strong that demands from industrialists for more and more protection are at once countered by the export trades, who appear before the committee to show proof that if the duties are raised, their ability to compete in the world market will vanish.

For this reason, the committee's functions have, since it was set up, been largely that of a court of conciliation where conflicting claims are fought out and a balance struck.

So pleased is the government with the functioning of the board that the British delegation at the Imperial Conference pressed hard for the establishment of every dominion of a similar tariff board. The proper functioning of these boards, the British delegation pinned their faith for the implementing of the agreement reached for the limitation of competitive tariff throughout the British Empire, e.g. tariffs fixed at a level that would protect from unfair competition from outside.

Funny Or Agricultural
The Empire Marketing Board tells us that "Of the 260 million pigs in the world only 12 per cent are Empire pigs. The Empire has, however, more than a third of the goats." It is difficult to know whether the Board is being funny or agricultural, says the Winnipeg Free Press.

Britain Likely To Capture Toy Market

Has Started Manufacturing and Orders Are Pouring In

Up till recently nearly all the moderately-priced clockwork toys in which children delight were of foreign manufacture.

Now, thanks to the new tariff of twenty-five per cent on foreign toys, Britain has gone out to capture the toy market. A big manufacturing firm has laid down plant costing £20,000. They are preparing 5,000,000 articles for the Christmas market, and expect to double output the following year. It has meant employment for 500 people, and another 1,000 are to be taken on if hopes are realized. Everything is made under the same roof, from clockwork mechanism to packing cases. The articles, though cheaper than American and German toys, are very much superior. The clock motor-cars run at least 50 feet farther than their rivals at one winding; while the better models are fitted with electric light, a windscreen wiper that wipes, and an indicator that really indicates. A tank after the approved War Office pattern climbs adroitly over telephone directories, and always surmounts the obstacle with ease. Already orders are pouring in.

ALL QUIET ON THE BRITISH CABINET FRONT

KING GEORGE V
SIR HERBERT SAMUEL
SIR JOHN SIMON
STANLEY BALDWIN
King George hurried to London from Balmoral Castle, Scotland, and all Cabinet Ministers and heads of the various parties in the British House of Commons were prepared for the split which severed three important Cabinet Ministers from the flock. Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of one Liberal faction, resigned, as did Sir Archibald Sinclair and Lord Snowden. Their places were immediately filled, however, and the so-called smash-up died a natural death. MacDonald satisfied Sir John Simon and his Liberal supporters by handing out some of the vacated posts to Simon Leidesdorf and Stanley Baldwin took over Lord Snowden's position as Lord Privy Seal. Just what part His Majesty played in the case is not, and perhaps will never be, known, but the Government breach was soon healed.

Business Pays Debts

Creates Necessary Relationship Between Debtor and Creditor

No debts are ever paid except by willing, healthy debtors, and no force known to human technique can make a one-sided bargain sound. It is the very basis of capitalist enterprises that the debtor's interest must coincide with the creditor's, that the debtor must also benefit by the debt he owes to his creditor. Otherwise the capitalist loses his money. When debts are artificially created by politicians of another country to pay for such trumped-up absurdities as wars, demand large payments from the pockets of another country in smoke. Business, not politics, is the only motive that can create the necessary relationship between debtor and creditor.

Sarcasm But Polite

A constable stepped out at the end of the police trap. "Excuse me, sir," he said, producing his notebook, "but you have exceeded the speed limit over a measured piece of road."

"I've done nothing of the sort," retorted the motorist, "and besides—"

"Well, sir, if you don't believe me, you can ask the sergeant, as it was him who took the time. He's over by the pigsty-yonder."

"I wouldn't trouble him for worlds," was the acid reply. "I'd sooner pay five times than disturb the sergeant at his meals."

All fishes apparently contain iodine, usually a minute quantity.

Hon. Herbert Marler Sees A Big Potential Market In The Orient For Canadian Wheat

Canada Produces Prize Celery

Dominion Product Ranks First Among Nations Of World

Everyone knows that Canadian hard wheat sets the standard by which all other wheats are judged. Few realize that as a producer of prize celery, Canada also ranks first among the nations of the world, states the Market Intelligence Service of the Dominion Fruit Branch.

Proof of the superior quality of Canadian grown celery is found in every grocery or fruit and vegetable store. Fresh, young stalks, straight from the celery-growing areas of the Dominion, are reaching the market in quantity and although the quality is exceptional, prices are very reasonable.

In choosing her celery, the housewife would do well to keep the following facts in mind. Always look for stalks that are well bleached, with a good solid heart foundation. Stems should be succulent and snap readily when bent. Avoid stems that are flat, and thin, as they are often stringy. Celery that is green and poorly bleached usually lacks flavor stalks that are badly split at the base should never be purchased.

With Canadian celery so plentiful, this delightful vegetable should have an important place in the diet of every household. It provides an excellent appetite and side dish and because of its mineral content is ideal for purifying the blood and lending general tone to the whole system.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Canada Stands Third In Silver Production

And British Columbia Is Now Leading All Provinces

The Canadian silver production in 1931 was approximately 20½ million ounces or 10.5 per cent of the world's computed production of 196 million ounces. Canada has for many years ranked third amongst the silver-producing countries of the world, being exceeded by Mexico and the United States, the former contributing about 42 per cent and the latter about 22 per cent annually to the world's total production.

The silver mines of Cobalt and adjoining areas in Northern Ontario were for many years the principal sources of the Canadian production, but their output in recent years has become a gradual decline.

Important contributions to Canada's silver production are now being made by mines in the Noranda district of the Province of Quebec and in the Flin Flon district of the Province of Manitoba. The Yukon Territory has for several years been producing annually about four million ounces of silver, derived from the argentiferous lead ores of the Mayo district.

British Columbia is now the leading silver-producing province in the Dominion, having contributed about 39 per cent of the total production in 1931. The silver is obtained mainly as a by-product in the treatment of the lead-ores from the well-known mine at Kimberley.

Two Dozen For One

Farmer Found Others Had Lost Pail In Well

G. F. Warford of Hancock, Maine, lost a pail in his well. He had been on this farm only since the "back to the country" movement started, and he needed that pail. He started to grapple for it. The first try he hooked a pail, but it wasn't the one he lost, so he tried again, and twenty-four times he tried and each time he brought up a pail that he had never seen before, and the last try brought him up the pail he had lost. Twenty of the pails were better than the original one he fished for.

There never was in the world two opinions alike.

Lack of Initiative to Look for Foreign Markets for their products by Canadian wheat growers and millers, in particular, is deplored by Hon. Herbert Marler, Minister for Canada in Japan.

In my opinion the grain growers should have an expert stationed at Shanghai all the time to investigate the possibilities of selling Canadian grain," declared Mr. Marler. "Ten years ago China imported 55,000 tons of wheat; a few years later she imported 377,000 tons, and the amount in succeeding years varied, but in 1931, China imported the stupendous amount of 1,500,000 tons. In the first four months of this year she imported 600,000 tons of wheat.

The percentage of Canadian wheat imported by Japan and China has been steadily diminishing instead of the percentage remaining stable or rising.

"Investigation should be made by grain growers and millers as to the possibility of selling far more of our grain and flour to China."

"When we secure our place in those markets," said Mr. Marler, "we must see that a steady supply of the products is sent out or we cannot hope to have stable markets in the Orient or anywhere else."

The Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Harry Stevens, has done and is doing all in his power to assist the export trade of Canada," declared Mr. Marler.

"In addition to markets for our wheat and flour there are vast opportunities in the way of our paper products in the Orient, as well as canned milk, apples and such like," said Mr. Marler. "But all these require investigation because the market of the Orient is a competitive market and will not come to Canada, but Canada must go after it."

"Our organization in the Far East is in excellent shape. In fact, it may be said to be quite the equal of any other country.—Free Press.

Word Now Recognized

"Appendicitis" Omitted From First Volume of Oxford Dictionary

In the course of the Bolognole lecture dealing with the "surgical revolution," Sir Humphry Rolleston said: "The word 'appendicitis,' much criticized as a barbarous hybrid of Latin and Greek terminology, was constructed by R. H. Fitz, of Boston, Mass., in 1886. It does not appear in the first volume of the Oxford Dictionary; the editor, Sir James A. Murray, said that when that volume of the dictionary was in course of preparation (1885) he consulted a regius professor of medicine, and was informed that it was not necessary to include it, as the disease was very rare."

"Although it had been described many years before, by James Parkinson in 1812, by John Burns in 1836, by Thomas Hodgkin in the same year, and by Thomas Addison in 1839, appendicitis was not generally recognized as an influence represented in this country in 1885; it was then called perityphlitis, a term dated from 1843, and entered in a subsequent volume (1905) of the Oxford Dictionary with a reference to appendicitis."

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FREDER

"The Splendid Thing," by The Herald
Roder & Livingston, Ltd., London.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

The Test

New Year's Eve found Jean sitting alone in Claire's special sanctum—the room which had witnessed that frightful scene when Sir Adrian had suddenly gone mad.

It was a cosy enough little room in winter-time. A cheery fire crackled in the open grate, while a heavy velvet curtain was drawn across the door that gave egress to the terrace, effectually screening out the ubiquitous draught which invariably seeks entry through crack and hinge-space.

Claire was at the Dover House this evening, where a New Year's dinner-party was in progress, but Jean had no heart for festivities of any kind even had she not been precluded from taking part in them by reason of her father's death.

The grief and strain of the last four months had set their mark upon her. She was much thinner than formerly—her extreme slenderness accentuated by the clinging black of the dress she was wearing—while faint purple shadows lay beneath her eyes, giving her a look of frailty and fatigue.

She and Claire led a very sober and uneventful existence at Charnwood, the one absorbed in her quiet happiness, the other in her quiet grief. But the bond of their friendship had held true throughout the suffering fortunes which had fallen to the lot of each, and although for Jean there was inevitable additional pain involved in still remaining within the neighbourhood of Staple, it was counterbalanced by the comfort she drew from Claire's companionship.

Besides, as she reflected dispiritedly, where else had she to go? The Dover House would have been open to her, of course, at any time, but there she would be confronted by one of those people who were so frequent, and of late her principal preoccupation had been to avoid such meeting whenever possible. And she could not face Beatrix yet—alone! Some day, when Claire was married, she knew that she must brace herself to return there—a house of dreams that would never come true now. But at present she shrank intolerably from the idea. She traced companionship—above all, the soothing, tender understanding which Claire, who had herself suffered, was so well able to give her.

The book that she had been reading earlier in the evening lay open on her knee, and her thoughts were with Claire now. She pictured her sitting next to Nick at dinner, her flower-like face radiant with unclouded happiness. At least her own sorrow had not yet taught her the grudging eye which cannot endure another's joy.

"I'm glad you bought plenty of Christie's Premium Soda Crackers...because, with soup, they're about all we'll need for a good lunch."

With a quickly repressed sigh, she turned again to her book. Its pages fluttered faintly, as though stirred by some passing current of air, and Jean, coming suddenly out of her reverie, was conscious of a cold draught waiting towards her from the direction of the terrace door.

Yagely surprised, she glanced up, and a startled cry broke from her lips. The door was open, the folds of the curtain had been drawn aside, and in the aperture stood Blaise Tormar-

Jean sprang up from her chair and stood staring at him with dilated eyes, one hand gripping the edge of the chimney-piece.

"Blaise! . . . You!" The words came from her lips.

"Yes," he returned shortly. "May I come in?"

Without waiting for an answer he closed the door behind him, letting the curtain fall back into its place, and crossed the room to her side. Jean felt her heart contract as her eyes marked the changes wrought in him by the few weeks which had elapsed since she had seen him. His face was haggard, as though he had lack of sleep, and the lines on either side of the mouth were scored deep into the flesh. The mouth itself closed in a tense line of savage misery and the stark bitterness of his eyes filled her with grief and pity, knowing how utterly powerless she was to help or comfort.

Distrusting her self-control, she snatched at the first conventional remark that suggested itself.

"I thought—I thought you and Nesta were both dining at the Dover House," she said confidently.

"Nesta is there: I made an excuse. But you have interested."

Something in the curt, clipped sentences sounded a note of warning in her ears.

"But you ought not to have come here," she replied quickly—defensively almost. "Why have you come, Blaise?"

"I came," he said slowly, "because I can't bear my life without you a day longer. Because—Oh, Jean! Jean! . . . Beloved! Do you need to ask me why I came?"

With a swift, irresistible movement he swept her up into his arms, holding her crushed against his breast, his mouth on hers, kissing her as a man kisses when love that has been long thwarted and denied at last bursts untrammelled the shackles which constrained it.

And Jean, starved for four months of the touch of the beloved arms, the pressure of his lips upon her own, had yielded to him almost before she was aware of her surrender.

"Then the remembrance of the woman who stood between them away across her and she tore herself free from his embrace, white and trembling in every limb.

"Blaise! . . . What are you thinking of? Oh! We're mad!"

She covered her face with her shaking hands, but he drew them away, gazing down at her with eyes that whirled.

"Not beloved, but we're mad," he cried triumphantly. "We're sane at last. We were mad to think we could live apart, mad to dream we could starve like you and I. That was when we were mad! But we'll never be parted again; swear!"

"Blaise!" she whispered, staring at him with horrified dilated eyes. "You don't know what you are saying!"

You're forgetting Nesta—your wife. Oh, go—go quickly! You must not stay here and talk like this to me!"

"No," he returned. "I won't go. Jean, I've come to take you away with me." Once more his arms went round her. "Beloved, I can't live without you any longer. I've tried—and I can't do it. Jean, you'll come? You love me enough—enough to come away with me to the ends of the earth where we'll find happiness at last!"

She sought to free herself from his clasp, pressing with straining hands against his chest.

"I can't go with you . . . you know I can't! Ah! Don't ask me, Blaise! There was an agony of supplication in his voice."

"But I do ask you. And if you love me—his eyes holding hers—"you'll come, Jean."

"I do love you," she answered earnestly. "But it isn't the you I love asking me this, Blaise. It's some other man—a stranger."

"If you love me, you'll come," he reiterated doggedly. "I can't live without you, Jean. I want you—oh, heart's beloved, if you knew—" And the burning, passionate words, the pent-up love and longings of months of separation and despair, came pouring from his lips—beseeching and commanding, wringing her heart, pulling at the love within her that ached to give him the answer which he craved.

"Oh, Blaise, don't do it—oh, hush! Hush!" She checked him brokenly, with quivering lips. "I can't go with you. It wouldn't bring us happiness. Ah, listen to me, dear!" She came close to him and laid her hands imploringly on his arm, lifting his white, stricken face to his. "It would only spoil our love to take it like that when we have no right to it. It would smother and soil it, make it something different. I think—I think, in the end, Blaise, it would kill it."

"Nothing would ever kill my love for you," he exclaimed passionately. "Jean, little Jean, think of what our life together might be—the glory and beauty of it—just you and I in our House of Dreams!"

At least, not her husband. Oh! Why did he make it so hard for her? With every fibre of her being yearning towards him she must refuse, deny him, drive him away from her.

"No, No!" she cried tremulously. "We could never reach our House of Dreams that way—Oh, I know it! At least, not the sort of House of Dreams that would be worth anything to you or me, Blaise. It would only be a sham, a make-believe. You can't build true on a rotten foundation."

"Don't ask me any more, dear. It's so hard—so hard to keep on saying no when everything in me wants to say yes. I must say it. And you . . . you must go back to Nesta."

Her voice almost failed her. She could feel her strength ebbing away every moment that he stayed beside her. She knew that she would not be able to resist his pleading much longer. Her own heart was fighting against her—fighting on his side!

He saw her weakness and caught at eagerly.

"Do you know what you're asking?" he demanded hoarsely. "Do you know what you are sending me back to? Our life together—Nesta's and mine—has been simple hell upon earth."

Little Helps For This Week

"And in every work that he began in the service of the House of God, and in the law, and in the commandments, to seek his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered."—2 Chronicles 31:21.

God is a kind Father. He sets us all in the places where He wishes us to be employed; and that employment is truly "our Father's business." He chooses work for every creature which will be delightful to them, if they do it simply and humbly. And we may always be sure, whatever we are doing, that we cannot be pleasing Him if we are not happy ourselves.—J. Ruskin.

He watched the scarlet flood surge into her face and then retreat, leaving it a pallid white.

"Answer me!" he persisted, as she remained silent.

"Wait . . . wait a little . . ."

She turned away from him and, leaning her elbows on the chimney-piece, buried her face in her hands.

The supreme test had come at last. She realized now, that her renunciation—that renunciation which had cost her so much pain and bitterness—had been, after all, only something superficial and incomplete. She had not made the full sacrifice that duty and honour demanded of her. Though she had outwardly renounced her lover—bade him return to Nesta—she still held him here by the utter faithfulness of his love for her. Nesta had had but the husk, the shell—a husband in name only, every hour of their life together an insult to her pride and womanhood.

Thief Escapes By Trick

Purmers Struggle To Gather Hints He Scattered

An age-old trick was used by a Tokio thief to escape his pursuers. He had snatched a bag containing $1,500 from a truck and bolted along the street. Bystanders started in pursuit, but the thief thrust his hand into the stolen bag, pulled out a handful of bills and scattered them. Everyone dived for the notes, and while they were scrambling for the money the thief got safely away.

Leaving "Plane Is Big Thrill Says Pilot Instructor

Leaving an airplane for a parachute jump is the big thrill according to R. J. Groom, pilot instructor at Regina's airport, who has made his first jump.

"There is a moment or two of confused sensations, a display of whirling color and sky and you feel you are being shaken up in a big bag."

"Then suddenly all is quiet, a quiet that seems supernatural. There is no racket. To one used to flying it is an eerie sensation to be up there with no wings, no engine, no wind rushing past and no apparent movement."

After landing Mr. Groom says one has a great feeling of confidence and affection for the parachute that aided the descent.

Honorable Artillery Company Dates Back Officially To 1537

The Honorable Artillery Company, which is brigaded with the Guards and has a Guards adjutant and R.S.M., is a Territorial corps d'élite, though you might not have guessed it, from mere outward appearances. If, from mere outward appearances, it, you had run up against them at Wipers in 1918. Though placed now only fourth on the parade order of the British Army, the H.A.C. dates back officially to Henry VIII's charter in 1537, and can quite fairly claim, through descent from London's famous trained bands, an older ancestry still. For this reason all H.A.C. bloods hold that the Royal Scots, known as Pontius Pilate's bodyguard and officially the oldest regiment in the British Army, are mere babes and military sucklings compared with themselves. Full privates pay a guinea a year for the privilege of marching with the H.A.C.

One Of Germany's Unemployed Is Public Story-Teller

The old profession of public story-telling, common before the spread of learning and the invention of printing, has been revived as a means of livelihood by one of Berlin's unemployed army.

Theodore Lenge, known to his customers as "Uncle Edwin," sits every day in the Hitzense Park and tells tales of fairies and adventures to the children that gather round him. He charges from 6 to 15 cents for each story, consists of hundreds of stories.

"It was uphill work at the start, getting a clientele," he says. "But now that the parents trust me and the children know my stories are good ones, I have more work than I can do. Often I have to go without lunch rather than disappoint the children who have waited a long time to hear their favorite tale."

"While infant mortality for the year 1931 shows an improvement of three points over the previous year, this province still has the fourth highest infant mortality rate. The general rate for the Dominion is 54.8 per 1,000 live births, while for Saskatchewan it is 69.0.

"The general death rate for Saskatchewan is lower than in 1930, the rate being 6.5 per 1,000 of population, which is the lowest in the history of the province since 1915. The rate for the Dominion is 10.1.

"The number of deaths from tuberculosis shows a marked decrease over 1930, the rate having decreased from 48.1 per 100,000 of population in 1930 to 36.0 in 1931. The rate for the Dominion is 74.0.

"In 1931 the death rate in Saskatchewan for the year 1931 is 63.9 per 100,000 of population; this is an increase over the rate of 64.0 in 1930. The rate for the Dominion is 92.0. Saskatchewan has the second lowest death rate from cancer; Alberta being the lowest, with a rate of 60.0.

"This province shows an improvement in the death rate from diseases of the heart—the rate being 71.0 in 1931, as compared with 73.8 in 1930. Ontario has the highest rate, namely, 169, while the general death rate from heart diseases for the Dominion is 132.

"The number of deaths caused by automobile accidents last year was lower in Saskatchewan than in any other province, the rate being 5.0, Ontario had the highest rate—17.0, and British Columbia took second place with a rate of 16.0.

"Of all the provinces of Canada Quebec had the greatest natural increase, namely, 17.1 per 1,000 population; Saskatchewan coming second with a rate of 16.3.

"The birth rate for the province of Saskatchewan indicates a decrease of 1.3 points in 1931 over 1930, the rate for 1931 being 23.1 per 1,000 population. The birth rate for the whole Dominion is 23.2, and Saskatchewan holds fourth highest place in this regard. The three Maritime provinces show an increase in the birth rate, but in all others it is lower than in the previous year.

"It will be seen, therefore, that in the nine different sections contained in the preliminary report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which is regarded as the barometer of public health in Canada, Saskatchewan holds premier place in five: that is to say, she has:

(a) The lowest general death rate.

(b) The lowest tuberculosis death rate.

(c) The lowest maternal mortality rate.

(d) The lowest death rate from diseases of the heart.

(e) The lowest death rate from automobile accidents.

"In two sections this province holds second place, namely, in the natural increase rate, and in the cancer death rate. Saskatchewan takes fourth place in the birth rate and fifth in infant mortality."

BRITISH FILMS

Though there are Australian, South African and other Dominion players in British film studios, Barry Jones and Maurice Colbourne seem, with the exception of Raymond Massey, to be the nearest thing to Canadian representation. Their arrangements with producers call for time out for at least one trip to Canada each year. They are shown here with Anne Grey during the filming of the first full length Shaw picture, "Arms and the Man" which was largely directed by G. B. S. himself.

Vital Statistics

Saskatchewan Had Lowest Maternal Mortality In Canada In 1931

The preliminary annual report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for the year 1931 has now been compiled and has come to hand. Commenting upon the information contained therein regarding the Province of Saskatchewan, Honourable F. D. Munroe, M.D., Minister of Public Health, stated as follows:

"The outstanding feature contained in the preliminary vital statistics report just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for the year 1931, insofar as this province is concerned, is that Saskatchewan, for the first time in its history, leads all Canada in lowest maternal mortality—the rate being 4.4 per 1,000 live births, as compared with 5.0 for the whole Dominion. In view of the fact that for many years Saskatchewan had the highest mortality rate in this regard in the Dominion, and taking into consideration also the general economic situation existing throughout the province, as well as the adverse conditions in the drought areas, this achievement is significant."

"In Saskatchewan in 1931 there were 93 maternal deaths. Of this number 60 occurred in hospitals. Of 33 deaths which took place outside of hospitals, 31 were attended by physicians, so that only 2 out of 93 cases were without medical attention."

"While infant mortality for the year 1931 shows an improvement of three points over the previous year, this province still has the fourth highest infant mortality rate. The general rate for the Dominion is 54.8 per 1,000 live births, while for Saskatchewan it is 69.0.

"The general death rate for Saskatchewan is lower than in 1930, the rate being 6.5 per 1,000 of population, which is the lowest in the history of the province since 1915. The rate for the Dominion is 10.1.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE HOME OF THE COMING GENERATION

Golden Text: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and even when he is old he will not depart from it."—Proverbs 22:6.

Lesson: Genesis 18:17-19; Deuteronomy 6:4-9; 1 Samuel 1:24-28; Mark 10:13-16; 2 Timothy 1:2-4.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 128.

Explanations and Comments

The Training Of Children In the Home, Genesis 18:17-19.—Abraham is standing on an eminence overlooking the valley that stretches to the Dead Sea. Before him are the rich and evil cities of the Plain, Sodom and Gomorrah; and it is the eve of their destruction. God is represented as soliloquizing and giving expression to the reason for His deciding to take Abraham into His confidence and reveal to him His intention and show him His justice. As the founder of a great nation it is that Abraham should understand God's dealing with men.

"God unfolds His purpose to those who keep His commandments; obedience is the mother of insight."—Alexander MacLaren.

God had entered into close relations with Abraham in order that he should train his children and his household so that they, too, should be obedient to Him and just as God did Jehovah, and thus Abraham through his descendants would be a blessing to all mankind.

"God's ideal nation starts with the home. The father walks in the way of the Lord to do justice and judgment, and his children and his household following after him. His authority and home example are exacting. The words, 'The Lord commanded his children and his household after him.' The most dangerous sign to a father is the neglect of home life and the growing disrespect of children."

The Teaching Of Children In the Home, Deuteronomy 6:4-9.—This passage the Jews call "Shema," from the first word of verse 4 in Hebrew, translated "Hear." The first commandment (Matthew 22:36) follows and then the duty of remembering these words and of teaching them to children is stressed. The words should be upon one's lips, shall make so deep an impression upon one that they influence one's life. They must be taught to the children, must be a matter of conversation everywhere and at all times, "pricked in" by repetition and emphasis.

OPEN WAY FOR DISCUSSION OF IRISH SITUATION

London, Eng.—President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State left for Dublin after having agreed with J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, to make the controversy over unpaid Irish land annuities the subject of negotiations to start October 14.

An official statement issued at the conclusion of the two-hour conference between Mr. de Valera, Mr. Thomas and several other members of the cabinet said:

"We have agreed to adopt a suggestion that the question concerning Irish land annuities should be made the subject of negotiations between the two governments.

"In the course of our conversations attention was called to the fact that other sums of money formerly paid to the United Kingdom were being withheld by the Irish Free State. It was agreed that negotiations should cover these sums also and that the discussions be begun in London if possible on October 14."

Meanwhile it was said the Free State will continue to keep the disputed funds in a suspense account where they were placed pending settlement of the controversy concerning them.

Ottawa Conference

Meetings Held in London Take Divergent Views on Results

Results of the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference were described variously as substantially advancing Empire economic co-operation and as "preposterous" at the same time in the United Kingdom this week.

The Central and Associated Chambers of Agriculture, meeting in London, unanimously passed a resolution welcoming the conference as bringing a "substantial advance towards a policy of Empire economic co-operation and agricultural development."

At the same time, Sir Herbert Samuel, former Liberal home secretary, who resigned recently from the national government, said in a speech at Darwin the agreements were "preposterous."

Sir Herbert maintained that when the agreements are published it will be found neither in India nor in the Dominions will the cotton trade of the United Kingdom receive any appreciable concessions.

He denounced also the proposal to impose a heavy duty on cod liver oil from Norway in order to dislodge it of the trade in this commodity to Newfoundland. He asked his audience how anyone should be so stupid to propose this "monstrous idea" as a medicine "essential to the life and health of a vast number of children in the poorest homes."

The agricultural chambers, however, expressed satisfaction that the agreements at Ottawa recognized the principle that agriculture in the United Kingdom should have a prior claim to the home markets.

Woman Elected President

Vancouver, B.C.—Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith is again president of the British Columbia Liberal Association. The election of the woman who has made British parliamentary history as the first woman cabinet minister, was one of the most colorful incidents of the convention just concluded. It is just 10 years since she came to British Columbia.

Wheat Price Problem

Ottawa, Ont.—Low prices for wheat constitute one of the major problems for parliament to cope with at the present session, in the opinion of Robert Gardiner, U.F.A. leader and member for Acadia, Alberta, who is now in Ottawa. The main task was to find a level on which a fair return would be given to the wheat farmer, Mr. Gardiner said.

J. R. McLean To Succeed Graham Spay As National Secretary Of Canadian Clubs

Ottawa, Ont.—The executive committee of the Association of Canadian Clubs has announced the appointment of J. R. McLean, formerly of Winnipeg, to the post of national secretary. Mr. McLean will take over his duties at once as successor to Graham Spay, who resigned May 1, last.

Mr. McLean graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1926, with the degree of bachelor of arts, and took his M.A. degree from the same university the following year, at which he was chosen Rhodes scholar from Manitoba. He obtained the degree of bachelor of letters from Oxford in June, 1931. He is 27 years of age and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, Yorkton, Sask.

Mrs. P. A. Wheeler, assistant secretary, who has been acting secretary since Mr. Spay's resignation, will continue as acting secretary.

Grain Shipped To Churchill

Movement Of 1932 Crop Now In Full Swing

The Prairies, Man.—The movement of 1932 wheat from the prairies of western Canada to Churchill for storage during the winter, and immediate transshipment overseas when navigation opens in 1933, is now in full swing with nearly 1,000 cars already north of the Prairies, the grain passing over the Hudson Bay Railway at the rate of approximately 100 cars per day.

Nine hundred and fifty cars are north of the Prairies, it was stated at the local office of the Bay line, and during the past few days has been passing through at the rate of 100 cars per day.

It is expected grain will continue to go north at a rapid rate for some time to come, and according to indications the Churchill elevator will be filled before winter sets in. The total capacity of the elevator is 2,500,000 bushels.

Alberta Oil Fields

Believe Gushers Will Be Discovered To Stagger the Imagination

Calgary, Alberta.—In the near future enough crude oil will be produced in Alberta between Lake and the international boundary to supply the British Empire, according to a statement made by Dr. Davis, geologist and petroleum engineer of the Willshire Oil Company, visiting Alberta oil district. Mr. Davis believes oil gushers will be discovered that will "stagger the imaginations of Albertans."

C. A. Honey, Los Angeles oil operator, accompanied Mr. Davis. Mr. Honey plans to drill a well at Twin River, 25 miles west of Milk River. The drilling will take place close to the property of the Norden Corporation, where Mr. Davis predicts 1,000 to 10,000 barrels daily will be produced. He placed a $100,000,000 value on the property.

Loan Conversion a Success

New South Wales Lists Closed Within Hour

London, England.—New South Wales loan conversion, sponsored by the commonwealth along the lines of the British conversion, reducing the government's interest burden by a substantial figure, proved a remarkable success.

Cash applications were so heavy that the lists were closed within half an hour. The new loan is for five years carrying a 1 per cent interest. In the case of the Australian loan there is a 2 1/2 per cent bonus with a seven-day limit.

The converted loan totalled £12,360,859. Former interest rates on this sum were 5 1/2 per cent. The nominal interest for the new issue is 2 1/2 per cent, but allowing for the premium on repayment the overall yield will be about four per cent. Altogether the conversion will mean a saving of nearly £500,000 a year.

Universities To Confer

Meetings Of The Heads Of Western Universities To Be Held

Edmonton, Alberta.—A call will be sent out probably this week by Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, for a meeting of the heads of other representatives of western universities, as proposed by Premier Brownlee a few weeks ago.

Replies have been received from Saskatchewan and Manitoba approving of the suggestion, and word has come from British Columbia that an answer from that province will be ready shortly.

Trade Wheat For Vegetables

Alberta Farmers Resorting To The Ancient System Of Barter

Calgary, Alberta.—Alberta farmers have turned again to the ancient system of barter to supply their wants for the winter. They are entering British Columbia by motor truck through the Crown's West Pass, carrying wheat which they trade for vegetables, fruit and eggs.

This method of acquiring food for the winter instead of selling their wheat at prevailing low prices was used by the farmers last year, but according to reports, the movement this season is much larger. The farmers are returning from British Columbia farming areas with their trucks loaded with winter food supplies.

One farmer claims to have disposed of a load of wheat on the basis of 50 cents to the bushel, obtaining sufficient fruit and vegetables to keep his family all winter.

Jap Population Grows

One Out Of Every Eight Births At Coast Japanese

Victoria, B.C.—Approximately one out of every eight births registered in British Columbia during 1931 was Japanese, according to figures released by H. W. Young, provincial health officer. Last year, registration of births of all races totaled 9,640, of which 1,242 were Japanese. Despite the fact the Chinese population in British Columbia exceeds that of the Japanese by several thousands, only 177 Chinese births were registered last year.

PROPOSAL MADE TO DISCUSS THE GERMAN POSITION

London, England.—The Exchange Telegraph Agency said the British Government was seeking to determine whether a conference could be arranged to discuss Germany's withdrawal from the disarmament conference. France, Germany and Italy were being consulted.

The agency said the matter was still under consideration, and the British Government had indicated if a conference course were feasible and generally approved, it would be willing to arrange a meeting for the purpose in London.

The exact object of the conversation would be to determine whether the difficulties arising from Germany's withdrawal could be discussed in an exchange of views.

Berlin, Germany.—The British charge d'affaires verbally submitted to the foreign office an official invitation to a conference of the powers to be held in London to pave the way for Germany's return to the world disarmament conference at Geneva.

In replying to the invitation Germany emphasized that unless certain guarantees were given that her demand for arms equality really would be fulfilled, the government of the reich could not participate.

Without fulfillment of the German demand, the charge d'affaires was informed, the London meeting would be futile.

TO HEAD COMMISSION

Hector Charlesworth, famous Canadian journalist and editor of Saturday Night, who is said to have accepted the post of Chairman of the new Canadian Broadcasting Commission.

B.C. Coalition Opposed

Delegates At Liberal Association Meeting Refuse To Participate

Vancouver, B.C.—Delegates for the holding of a general election "at the earliest possible moment" and the refusal to participate in a coalition government, as suggested by Premier S. F. Tolmie, marked the first day's session of the annual meeting of the British Columbia Liberal Association here; 100 delegates were in attendance.

The resolution declared the convention would not participate in the leadership of T. D. Pattullo and extended to him "a free mandate to choose for his associates in government men of character, ability and standing, having regard solely to the public interest."

Hon. Ian MacKenzie, M.P. for Vancouver Centre, predicted any success that may have been attained at the Imperial Conference would be insofar as the agreements followed along the lines of the last Dunning budget.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith was "madame chairman" at the opening of the convention. She called the delegates by their first names at times.

Used Hudson Bay Route

Miss Cora Hind First Woman Passenger Going Sailing Via Churchill

Winnipeg, Man.—Miss E. Cora Hind, veteran agricultural editor and greatest woman journalist Canada has produced, sailed out of Churchill Bristol-bound, the first woman passenger to use the Hudson Bay route.

For the better part of her life Miss Hind has shared in western Canada's fight for a direct outlet to world markets through Hudson Bay. When the route was finally opened to the grain trade of the world, she was eager to see for herself the Hudson Bay Railway route.

Confiding her ambition only to a few friends and associates, she let Winnipeg for Churchill determined if possible to get a passage. She has intended to leave earlier than she did, and only chance saved her from being a passenger on the "Bright Fan" which struck an iceberg and went to the bottom.

Oregon Forest Fire

Loss Is Estimated At More Than $2,000,000

Portland, Ore.—Blasting in from all sides with blasting heat, a forest fire destroyed the town of Cochrane in the mountain burned country, about 50 miles west of Portland in Washington county.

The loss, including that in the town, two mills, railroad equipment and timber was estimated by those in the area at more than $2,000,000. The town's 200 inhabitants escaped.

Edwards, nearly, and mill camp at the foot of the mountain, burned to the ground. At Enright, three railroad tunnels, a costly rail incline, several trestles and other equipment of the C. H. Wheeler Logging Company in the Cochrane area were destroyed.

All equipment and buildings of the C. H. Wheeler Logging Company in the Cochrane area were destroyed.

The only death reported from the most disastrous forest fire in years was that of a logger killed by a falling tree.

From other sections of western Oregon there came reports of fires, but holding much potential danger. A warm east wind, drying all foliage and grass, coupled with unseasonably hot October weather, presented a menace.

Soviet Watchword

Quality Rather Than Quantity Is To Be Building Principle

Moscow, Russia.—Quality rather than quantity is to be the watchword of Soviet production during 1933. So the central committee of the Communist party decided at the four-day meeting which has now ended.

The committee adopted a series of resolutions admitting serious shortcomings in the development of the country's public economy, especially in foods, and exhorting the party members and the proletariat to put their shoulders to the wheel from now on.

Expel Papal Delegate

Mexico Orders His Expulsion As a Perfidious Foreigner

Mexico City.—Manager Leopoldo Ruiz-Frías, papal delegate to Mexico, left in a private aeroplane with two agents of the department of interior for the United States. He had been ordered expelled from the country as a "perfidious foreigner."

The "plan" was to cross the border at Laredo or Brownsville. The papal delegate's only remark was that it was the first time he ever had been up in an aeroplane.

ALBERTA WILL GIVE ASSISTANCE IN DEBT CASES

Edmonton, Alberta.—Government action following the decision of the Alberta Bar Association to give assistance in debt cases will be taken shortly. It is intimated by Premier J. E. Brownlee, who says that a further decision will probably be made when the plan has been thoroughly considered and organized.

"I am much pleased with the attitude of members of the law society," said the premier, "in offering their services on a very fair basis in an effort to work out the debtor-and-creditor difficulties. Meanwhile I can say quite definitely that any creditor firm that is showing that it appreciates the situation now existing in this province, and is willing to cooperate in solving the problem, has but little to fear."

Quicker as to a resolution reported to have been sent from the whole-sellers' association in Calgary, to the effect that no further government action be taken to disturb the present credit relations, Mr. Brownlee said that no such resolution has as yet reached him.

Edmonton business interests may fight the proposed voluntary debt adjustment scheme for this province, feeling the present system should not be disturbed.

Arrangements were being made here to call a meeting of wholesale dealers in order to discuss the whole plan. In all likelihood, retail interests also will hold a meeting.

"The reaction to the scheme shows considerable opposition at present," said Secretary John Blue, of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

"There is a strong feeling that as new legislation is made effective this year, modifying the Debt Adjustment act, business men are not clear as to the difference involved as between the secured and unsecured creditor."

APPOINTMENT OF NEW RADIO COMMISSION

Ottawa, Ont.—The new Canadian radio broadcasting commission will be headed by Hector Charlesworth, Toronto, editor and critic. Thomas Maher, Quebec journalist, will be vice-chairman. Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. Steel, Ottawa, director of radio research for the national research council, will be the third member of the body.

Official announcement of the personnel of the commission has been made. Appointment of the commissioners was made at a meeting of cabinet council.

The emolument of the chairman will be $10,000 per year. Vice-chairman, $5,000, and Commissioner Steel will each receive an annual salary of $8,000.

Establishment of the commission was authorized by legislation passed at the last session of parliament. The bill was based on recommendations of a special committee of the House of Commons. The commission is empowered to carry on the business of broadcasting in Canada and regulate and control broadcasting by other agencies.

Many Killed In Cloudburst

Damages Caused At Tehachapi, California, Runs Into Millions

San Francisco, Calif.—Reports of 15 victims had been recovered, five others were listed as dead and unconfirmed reports said 21 additional bodies had been found in a wrecked freight car in the floodwater wake of the Tehachapi cloudburst that took a toll of possibly 45 lives and caused damages estimated from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Unverified reports to the Southern Pacific Company here said a boxcar, swept from its tracks when the torrent wrecked two freight trains, had been found to contain the bodies of 21 men and boys.

Liquor Law Attacked

Criticism Liquor Control System In British Columbia

Vancouver, B.C.—Allegations that bootleggers determine liquor legislation, that the present liquor control system has caused an orgy of crime and that arrests for drunkenness have increased 400 per cent, and liquor consumption 1800 per cent, since prohibition in British Columbia, were made today at opening sessions of the annual British Columbia Prohibition Convention by Rev. R. J. MacIntyre, organizer.

Japanese Policy

Cabinet Decides Not To Alter Decision Regarding Manchuria

Tokyo, Japan.—The cabinet decided that the Lytton commission's report on Manchuria to the League of Nations did not constitute cause to alter its Manchurian policy.

A cardinal point of that policy is the separation of Manchuria from China and maintenance of the independence state of Manchukuo, which the Japanese assisted in creating, to replace the old regime, owing allegiance to Nanking.

Alberta Bush Fires

Edmonton, Alberta.—Bush fires are reported to the provincial forestry department from the country west of Edmonton, toward the mountains, and from the Grande Prairie district, where in particular the situation is said to be quite serious. Smoke from these or other fires is already making itself felt in the city.

Employee Electrocuted

Alton, Ontario.—George B. Johnson, employee of the Calgary Power Company, was electrocuted when he came in contact with a 13,000-volt transformer when he was repairing the device on a platform 15 feet above the ground. Johnson, resident of Lacombe, Alberta, leaves a wife and family.

In Memorium

Gill—In loving memory of one, who passed away October 15th 1931.

Called from those who loved her, Plucked like a flower in bloom, So bright, so kind, so happy, Yet called away too soon.

Sadly missed by her mother, father and Flora.

In Memorium

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Hazel, who died October 10th 1931.

There is a family who misses you sadly, And thinks the time long since you went.

But try to be brave and content, But the tears that we shed in sleep, And we breathe a sigh of regret, For you were ours, and we remember.

Though all the world forget, Guy Dow and family.

October Meeting Institute

At the October meeting of the Women's Institute held at the percentage Tuesday afternoon, "Canadian Industries" was the subject of a most instructive talk by Mrs. Ulrich and a real eye opener as to the magnitude of products and out put. Making a survey of local industries such as the Vulcan flour mill and the Hayman sugar beet industries, the speaker stressed the advantage of patronizing these and the sense of security they give to the community. "We should be grateful for such factories as the Butler Canning factory, Edmonton, boot and shoe factory and muncipal in Lethbridge where products can be converted into the finished material," said Mrs. Ulrich. Some of the industries are the largest in the world and Canada's gold out put is the only one in the world that is on the increase. According to a statement by Howard Stittich, "If Alberta women would patronize Alberta industries entirely there would be no unemployment in Alberta."

Current events were reviewed by Mrs. Williamson in her usual entertaining manner, and Mrs. Baker's interesting report of the Brant conference completed a splendid program. Final arrangements were made for the Halloween dance on October 28th, the bridge party being postponed owing to a counter attraction on Oct. 14th. The Institute will sponsor the sale of poppies for Armistice day as usual. Following the National Anthem tea was served by Mrs. Stephenson (acting for Mrs. Woodhull) and Mrs. Latiff and they were assisted in serving by Fayella Chamberlain. Sixteen members and two visitors were present.

The weather man seemed to have read the conclusion that harvesting was completed, at any rate there has been little chance to finish operations since the first snow. There yet remains the odd field to be combined and there is considerable threatening yet to be done. Wednesday was a brilliant day and if this weather continues there may yet be a good opportunity for the completion of all farm work.

Mrs. G. Voleys entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fry recently.
